Microsoft non-profit technology for libraries and museums

Microsoft has announced the expansion of its non-profit technology offers to public libraries and museums. Find out what opportunities are available for your organisation.

The benefits of Microsoft's non-profit technology

Modern libraries and museums require innovative infrastructure to deliver the experience their service users expect in today's digital world.
Microsoft's non-profit technology gives libraries and museums access to exclusive discounts on Microsoft services, apps, and devices to unlock a number of advantages:

More value with less resource

Extended reach

Increased user and volunteer engagement

Improved efficiency

Microsoft non-profit technology optimises your IT estate with the implementation of the right Microsoft services for your organisation.

Non-profit technology products available

With significant discounts, libraries and museums can now access the benefits of Microsoft solutions and devices, including:

Microsoft 365

Microsoft Azure

Dynamics 365

Power Apps

Surface devices

In addition, Microsoft has built IT solutions specifically for the non-profit sector with Microsoft Cloud for Non-profit to support fundraising, volunteer management, and volunteer engagement.

Public libraries and museums now also have access to on-premise licences for computer labs and other public access devices, including:

Microsoft Office Standard	Windows Professional	Project Standard	Publisher	Visio Standard	Visual Studio Pro

This provides learning and development opportunities to the public, driving the main goal of these historical and informational institutes.

A strategic alliance for the modern museum and library

We are focused on empowering libraries and museums with current and future digital maturity to ensure the future success of these vital institutions.

As a Microsoft partner, we have access to the best pricing for Microsoft solutions and support the implementation of these for libraries and museums. This collaboration enables us to create and integrate tools and services of the next generation, empowering museums and libraries to manage their IT estates effectively and efficiently.

Working together, we support your overall goals to:

Enhance the visitor experience	Advance technology discovery	Make your operation more dynamic	Create intelligent environments
